Health Benefits from Proper Magnesium Levels:

- Overall body health and calmness.
- Improvement of heart and circulatory health which reduces irregular heartbeats, prevents hardening of the arteries, reduces blood clots, and lowers blood pressure.
- Enhanced ability for the body to use insulin, reducing the incidence or severity of diabetes.
- Toxins and heavy metals are flushed from the cells, easing muscle pain and helping the body to eliminate harmful substances.
- Nerve function by electrolyte regulation is boosted. Calcium is the main conductor for electrical current in the body, and magnesium is necessary to maintain proper calcium levels in the blood.
- Stress is relieved easier. Excess adrenaline and stress are believed to drain magnesium, a natural stress reliever, from the body.
- Swelling is reduced which relieves pain and muscle cramps.
- Absorption of nutrients is enhanced and systemic oxygen use is improved.
- The formation of joint proteins, brain tissue, and mucin proteins are upgraded.
- Injuries are decreased by providing support to ligaments and tendons.
